

Wenstrup to retire after 2024

House Ways and Means Committee Republican Brad Wenstrup of Ohio announced this week that he will not run for re-election in 2024 and will retire from Congress at the end of his current term.

Wenstrup, a physician, was first elected to Congress in 2012 and joined the Ways and Means Committee in May of 2018 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Rep. Patrick Meehan of Pennsylvania. He currently sits on the Health Subcommittee and the Work and Welfare Subcommittee.

Wenstrup is the second House taxwriter in two weeks to announce he will not mount a re-election bid next year. Democratic taxwriter Earl Blumenauer of Oregon revealed on October 30 that he will leave Capitol Hill after the 118th Congress formally adjourns in January of 2025.
